To Helen.

Helen thy beauty is to me
Like those lucid barks of yore,
That gently o'er a perfumed sea,
The weary wayward wanderer bore
To his native shore.

On desperate seas long wont to roam,
Thy hyacinth hair, thy classic face,
Thy Naiad airs have brought me home,
To the glory that was Greece
And the grandeur that was Rome.
Lo! in your brilliant window niche
How statue like I see thee stand,
The agate lamp within thy hand!
Ah Psyche, from the regions which Are Holy Land!

—Edgar Allan Poe.

Literary.

In looking at the losses to literature during the past year one finds in the inevitable list such names as Emile Zola, easily the greatest; Samuel Rawson Gardiner, the English historian and Lord Acton; and among the Americans a surprising number of active literary workers, such as Frank B. Stockton, Bret Harte, Frank Norris, author of "The Octopus" and "The Pit"; E. L. Godkin, the remarkable editor of the "New York Nation" for thirty years; Paul Leicester Ford, who drew a strong political type in "Peter Stirling" and who came to his death in so merciless a way at the hands of his own brother, George Douglas Brown, the promising author of "The House with the Green Shutters"; Thomas Dunn English, whose name is invariably connected with Ben Bolt, and the Chicago novelist, Mare Hartwell Catherwood, whose historical romances of the great northwest culminated in her most successful book, "Lazarre."—Philharmonic.

Birthday Party

On Thursday evening of last week Master Herbert Dupree gave a birthday party to a number of his little friends, at the country house of his father, about two miles from town. Quite a merry crowd went out from town. Games were indulged in until a late hour and Master Herbert's hospitality made this one of the happiest of evenings to each guest present. The beautiful drive back to town in the moonlight made a happy ending for this delightful little party.

The Schubert Concert Co.

One of the largest crowds seen in the opera house for a long time greeted these talented musicians on Monday night. It was through the untiring efforts of Mrs. C. W. Day and Mrs. Emmett Skinner that the Vinita people were given the opportunity of hearing these interesting ladies. The contralto soloist, Mrs. Purcell, possessed by far the most cultivated voice in the quartette, her tones, never masculine in their deep fulness, not strained nor unreal, but clear and strong. The pathos of her voice won the crowd and made her most popular. Master Tommy Purcell was not well, so of course could not appear to his best advantage, but his playing was appreciated by most of the audience.

An Afternoon Tea

On Tuesday afternoon and evening the ladies of the Baptist church gave a tea for the benefit of that church. Quite a crowd was present at both times and these energetic ladies made quite a nice sum for their church. Delightful refreshments were served in two courses, pineapple cream and angel cake, black coffee and marble cake.

The "Roney's Boys."

A more cultured audience never gathered together than the one that greeted the "Roney's Boys" on Wednesday evening at the opera house. This was the last concert given on the lecture course and the committee is to be congratulated on securing such good attractions. Vinita should have her lecture course each season, for they would always be well patronized. Each attraction brought here on this course was strictly elevating and high class. I speak for the majority of the Vinita ladies in wishing that we may be able to hear as good each season. Some were not pleased with this course, but when we consider having seen six first-class shows for less than forty cents each, what right have we to complain. It has been rumored that the course will be tried again next season, however with new attractions, for the benefit of the library, and I am sure it will be eagerly grasped by all and nothing but success assured. On Wednesday evening the violin, it was said to have been the best ever heard on a Vinita stage. The rendition of Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" with flute obligato was truly a work of art, the human voice could never have touched more tender chords than this musician with his violin and his imitations were truly worthy of note. But the sweet voices of the yet unchanged boys were something wonderful, so well trained and so simple in their child like purity.

Miss Leiter and the Prince

A London special to the New York World says:—"The arrival of 'Daisy' Leiter and her mother on Sunday was the prelude to one of London's sensations this week. They came overland from Marseilles, bringing eighty five gigantic boxes, containing stacks of Indian embroidery and souvenirs of the durbar. Going to Claridges they hardly had time to rest before 'smart' London was calling. Every morning 'Daisy' has been out for a morning's ride in Hyde Park along Rotten Row, causing no little stir with her splendid figure and perfect style in the saddle. Prince Francis of Teck has been more in the park this week than in his whole life before and has been so attentive to 'Daisy' that conjecture is rife. The Leiters will remain here six weeks longer as 'Daisy' means to attend court and go to the splendid costume ball Mrs. Adair will give May 5th.

COUNTING COINS QUICKLY.

The ingenious invention of a Treasury Expert Facilitates the Handling Thereof.

An old treasury employee has invented an ingenious coin counting machine. It consists of a round metal hopper into which coins are poured. From this the coins are fed into an attachment, or head, as it is called, which is kept constantly revolving by a crank operated by hand. Each revolution carries six or more coins through a registering device which keeps track of the exact number. There is a different-sized head for each coin and the change from nickels to pennies or from dimes to quarters or coins of larger denomination can be made instantly. It is estimated that with one of these machines a strong boy can accurately perform the work of five or six clerks, says a Washington report. A device has also been planned which will count the coins in 100 or 200 lots and by the use of a paper carton they may be done up in packages ready for handling or shipment. By running them consecutively through the various heads a lot of coins may be separated and counted at the same time. The machine is expected to revolutionize coin counting methods.

Seventy-one patents covering apparatus for wireless telegraphy were issued in the United States last year, making the total number 100.

He Told Her.
"Do you keep late hours, young man?" asked the blue-nosed woman of the clerk in the music store.
"We've got 'The Clock in the Steeple' strikes one, ma'am, if that's what you want," replied the youth, feeling in his pocket for a cigarette.

Women Need

a constant supply of blood-making material or their systems break down under the constant drain. The very moment there is lack of blood, or when the blood is impoverished, the signal appears upon the face in sallowness or pallor. The remedy needed in Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. Nothing else meets this particular condition so well. Out of it has made hundreds of thousands of women look younger and made them feel even younger than they looked. It not only restores strength, energy and beauty, but it is a prompt and certain cure for all ailments peculiar to the sex. It cures because it removes the first cause. It supplies just what nature needs to bring health.

Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic

strengthens debilitated organs, gives tone and elasticity to muscles and ligaments, rounds out wasted tissues and restores the vigor of the nervous system. It helps quickly and just as surely and permanently.
Loss of appetite, of ambition, nervousness, pains in the head, back, kidneys, limbs, muscles, etc., are all cured by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic.

The following is one of thousands of similar endorsements that we have received:

Houston, Texas, Dec. 4, 1901.
"My father has used your medicine since the War, and when I married in December, 1872, I commenced keeping with one bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic. One bottle of his Wild Cherry Bitters, and two boxes of his Little Liver Pills. I am now nearly sixty-two years of age. Looking backward I feel attached to the old medicines and would not change them for any of the new ones made."
Mrs. J. A. Pickett.

LACK OF FOREIGN TONGUES.

American Women as a Rule Do Not Acquire a Knowledge of Other Languages.

A serious defect to the education of most American women is their failure to acquire in their youth conversational facility in other languages than their own. Many girls include a foreign tongue or two in the list of their studies, but it is simply eye skill that they secure, ability to read and write the language with varying degrees of excellence. When the ear test comes it is the exception when they are not almost helpless, says Harper's Bazar. An English girl is not considered educated until she is fluent in at least one other than her native language, and she often speaks two or three easily. A trip abroad illustrates and emphasizes the fact that Americans are very provincial in the matter of languages. In a group of foreigners taken at random, German, French and Italian, together with English, one of the hardest tongues to learn, will be heard interchangeable among its members; it is not until an American joins the group that the talk through courtesy to his or her limitations, becomes restricted to English. In Sweden, French, German and English are obligatory studies in the curricula. The kindergarten children are taught the language in delightful fashions, the girls with their dolls and kitchen-garden classes, the boys with games and sports and the like.

WHY THE HINDOO STARVES.

Suffering Caused by Tremendous Advance in Prices of Foodstuffs in India.

Prof. Morrison, of the Allahpur college fame, says the Lahore Tribune, had taken infinite trouble to collect facts for his lecture, which he delivered before the British association to prove "the instability of prices in India before 1861." The table contained the prices of grains for the last 60 years in Barilly and Allahpur, and he wanted to prove by this table that the Indians were not growing poorer. But Mr. Digby deduced conclusions quite different from the data supplied by the professor. Here are Mr. Digby's conclusions:

Hira Ganga Singh, a man 30 years of age, living in Barilly, has to pay for his daily food and for the food of his family if it be wheat:

Fifty per cent. more than his father paid; 150 per cent. more than grandfather paid; 170 per cent. more than his great-grandfather paid.

If his food be barley he has to pay: Seventy-five per cent. more than his father paid; 450 per cent. more than his grandfather paid; 500 per cent. more than his great-grandfather paid.

If his food be bajra he has to pay: Ten per cent. more than his father paid; 355 per cent. more than his grandfather paid; 375 per cent. more than his great-grandfather paid.

In this profoundly disquieting fact is to be found the reason why, in India, during the ten years, 1891 to 1900, 2,200,000 British subjects died of privation and consequent disease who ought now be living. That is to say, 2,200,000 British subjects, on the average, needlessly died, famine year and (so-called) nonfamine year, during the last decade of the last century.

Two Ways of Saying It.

"We cannot see our way clear" is correct; so is "We cannot see clearly our way." "Clear" in the first phrase qualifies "way"; "clearly" in the second qualifies "seeing."

"What game?" asked the superintendent.

Consumption of Rice.

Dollar for a Senate Seat.
Senator Pettus, of Alabama, the other day disapproved the prevailing theory that all seats in the United States senate are expensive and that that body is altogether a millionaire's club. He sent to the secretary of state of Alabama the sum of one dollar in a postal note to cover the entire expenses for his recent unanimous election. This sum represents the fee of the secretary of state for his services. So far as known this is a record in the minimum price for seats in the senate.

Hitherto it has been considered a moral weakness to slumber in church. Now Dr. Dabbs, the editor of Vectis, comes to the rescue of the church sleepers with sedentive facts.
